

Brandon Miller: Inform the Pilot What to Expect

"As a radar controller my main focus is the approach sequence into the airport with multiple aircraft and I want to make sure I put the pilot in a situation where he's at the proper altitude and speed to achieve a stabilized approach, starting from the final approach fix out. Safety being the number one goal, I want to make sure I do everything in my power to ensure that that pilot has the best fighting chance of a stable approach to the runway."
